SPOTLIGHTING

The Reserve Directors

Commander Cardwell was born in Ashland, Virginia, in 1906. He graduated from McGuire's University School in Richmond and attended Randolph Macon College for two years. Prior to entering the Coast Guard Reserve as a lieutenant (jg) on 10 January 1942, he was employed as a life underwriter with New England Mutual Life Insurance Company of Boston, Mass., for 25 years. He was also past president of the Richmond, Va. Association of Life Underwriters.

During the war he attended various Coast Guard and Navy schools including OIS and Advanced Officer Training School at St. Augustine, Fla., the Submarine Chaser Training Center and Command Course at Miami, and Fire Fighting School at Philadelphia. On 26 December 1943 he was assigned as 1st lieutenant aboard the USS ALLENTOWN (PF-52) and served as executive and commanding officer during the New Guinea and Philippine Campaigns until 15 July 1945, when he turned the ship over to the Russians. He wears the Asiatic-Pacific (2 stars), the Philippine Liberation (2 stars), and the Philippine Presidential Citation ribbons for his service in this area.

His final tour of duty was in Portsmouth, Va., as executive officer of Personnel Separation Center No. 5.

Commander Cardwell is married to the former Virginia B. Vaughan of Stevensville, Va. His daughter, Mrs. W. C. Saunders III lives in Miami, Fla.

Applications Sought For Senior Officers' Course

Applications for the Senior Reserve Officers' Course, which will be held from 23 May to 5 June 1959 at the Naval War College, Newport, R. I., should be forwarded to reach the Commandant (PR) no later than 16 December 1958. Candidates must be captains or commanders of demonstrated outstanding civilian stature who have not previously attended this course. The Coast Guard quota is 1.

Reserve Instruction No. 11-58 gives details of the Senior Reserve Officers' Course as well as the Reserve Officers Command and Staff Course (formerly Combat Staff Techniques and Operational Planning) for which the Coast Guard has a quota of 2.

Reserve Policy Board To Meet December 1

CDR John Gidiere, USCGR, CCGD8, has been appointed to serve as senior member of the annual Reserve Policy Board which will convene at Coast Guard Headquarters on 1 December for four days. Other members are CDR Roger Dudley, USCG, Reserve Director, CGD11; CDR Silas Cain, USCGR, Reserve Director, CGD2; CDR Richard Welton, USCG, HQ; CDR Charles Reilly, Jr., USCGR, CGD5; CDR Norman Hall, USCGR, CGD3; CDR William Main, USCGR, CGD7; LCDR Wesley Kidd, USCGR, CGD9; LT Katherine Gannon (WR), CGD1; LT Charles Maxwell, USCG HQ, recorder. CDR Main, LCDR Kidd, and LT Gannon were on last year's board. CDR Russell Sullivan, USCGR, CGD3, is an alternate member.

The purpose of the board is to consider, recommend, and report to the Secretary of the Treasury on recommendations which have been submitted by district policy boards which meet during the first quarter of the fiscal year.

ExAcDu Billets Filled

The request for applications for extended active duty published in the May issue of the RESERVIST is canceled. Officers for all available billets have been selected and notified.

Experience keeps a dear School, yet fools will learn in no other.

Annual Academy Exam To Be Held In February

The annual examination for appointment to cadetship in the United States Coast Guard will be held 24 and 25 February 1959 in 119 cities in the nation, its possessions, and selected cities abroad. Appointments are made on the basis of competitive examination; there are no Congressional appointments or geographical quotas.

An applicant must be a high school senior or graduate who has reached his 17th but not his 22nd birthday on 1 July 1959. Applicants still in high school must graduate and earn 15 credits by 30 June 1959 of which three must be in English, two in algebra, and one in plane geometry. Candidates must be in excellent physical condition, between 64 and 78 inches in height, with proportionate weight, and have uncorrected 20/20 vision in each eye.

An information booklet and application forms may be obtained by writing the Commandant (PTR-2) U. S. Coast Guard, Washington 25, D. C. The deadline for applications is 15 January 1959.

Reserve Pistol Team Fires in Camp Perry Matches for 2d Year

Receiving Award for Best ORTU in District

RADM R. E. WOOD, Commander of the Twelfth Coast Guard District, has just presented the District Plaque to LCDR H. B. LYONS, CO of the outstanding unit during fiscal 1958, ORTUPS 12-372, Fresno, Calif. The presentation was part of a Mobilization Drill and Review which was held on 6 September at the USCG Base, Alameda. All ORTUs in the district participated in the weekend drill.

Coast Guard ships and stations require a constant supply of clothing, spare parts, technical items, and other essential supplies. Providing and accounting for these materials are the main responsibilities of the Storekeeper.

Duties and Responsibilities

Storekeepers take charge of various kinds of storerooms where they receive, store, and issue clothing, foodstuffs, mechanical equipment, and other items. They also process all matters pertaining to pay rolls of military personnel, the disbursing of funds in payment for services and supplies furnished the Coast Guard, reimbursement of Coast Guard personnel for expenses incurred in the line of duty, and other financial transactions.

Examples of Jobs Performed

(1) Buying: Estimate requirements and prepare requisitions for stores.

(2) Receiving: Receive stores, verify quantity and quality, and acknowledge receipt.

(3) Warehousing: Determine disposition of incoming stock. Make space allocations and stow stock according to physical characteristics (provisions, clothing, motors, fuel, and so forth), rate of turnover, periods of issue, climatic conditions, and special conditions concerned with storage.

(4) Packing and shipping: Package, crate, and label items for shipment. Process shipments of personal effects and household goods.

(5) Delivery: Issue store items according to regulations.

(6) Inventory: Supervise and assist in taking inventory.

(7) Accounting: Prepare required reports, vouchers, and all stock records for receipts and expenditure of stores. Maintain logs and files.

CG Reserve Retirement With Pay

(Second of a Series)

PART IV---RETIRED PAY

Retirement pay commences on the effective date of retirement which is the first day of the month after reaching age 60, or the first day of the month after date of the application, whichever is later.

Rate of retirement pay is the number of accrued retirement points divided by 360 and multiplied by $2\frac{1}{2}$ percent times the applicable basic pay of the rank or rating in which retired. Maximum pay is 75 percent of the basic pay.

Points for pay purposes are credited as follows:

- Prior to 30 June 1949, 50 points are given for each 365 days of inactive duty.

- Subsequent to 30 June 1949, points earned for drills, equivalent instruction, appropriate duty, correspondence courses, gratuitous points are credited to a maximum of 60.

- One point for each day of AcDu or AcDuTra including travel time.

NOTE: The total number of points are divided by 360 and multiplied by $2\frac{1}{2}$ times the applicable basic pay of the rank or rate in which retired in order to compute the retired pay. For example, let us assume that CDR John Doe, USCGR, reached age 60 on 30 June 1957, had accumulated more than the maximum of 20 years "satisfactory Federal Service", had 26 years longevity for pay purposes and had 3,200 retirement points through active service and inactive duty. His retired pay commencing 1 July 1957 would be:

$$\frac{3200}{360} \times 2\frac{1}{2}\% \times $775 = $172.22$$

PART V---PRIVILEGES OF RESERVISTS RETIRED WITH PAY

Retired Reserve personnel not on active duty are entitled to the following privileges:

- They are entitled to wear the prescribed uniform of the rate or rank held on the retired list when the wearing of the uniform is appropriate.

- They are permitted to use their military titles in connection with commercial enterprises.

- They may be permitted the privileges of exchanges, small stores, officers clubs, enlisted clubs, armed services exchanges, and commissary stores, subject to the availability of facilities.

- Provided members and former members have served a minimum of 8 years of active duty, not including active duty for training, they and their dependents are entitled to medical care.

PART VI---POSSIBLE ACTIONS UPON COMPLETION OF 20 YEARS OF SATISFACTORY SERVICE

After completing 20 years of "satisfactory Federal service," a member has four alternatives as follows:

- Continue Active Membership in the Reserve. This action increases the amount of retired pay by accruing additional retirement points as well as by adding of service which increases the basic pay upon which retired pay is based. It is not necessary that the member accrue 50 points each year. Any and all points earned are added to the total.

- Request Transfer to Inactive Status.

Additional points may not be accrued if this action is taken. However, basic pay is increased by additional years of service up to 22 for LT's, 26 for LCDR's and CDR's and 30 for CAPT's. This alternative would be of benefit only to the CDR and CAPT, as a LT's pay does not increase after 14 years and a LCDR's pay does not increase after 18 years.

- Request Transfer to the Retired Reserve.

No additional points or years of service may be accrued except while serving on active duty. Individual remains a member of the Reserve.

- Resign or Be Discharged.

If this action is taken, individual resumes civilian status throughout. He is eligible only for retirement pay in the nature of a pension upon reaching age 60 and is not placed upon the Retired List. Provided he served a total of 8 years active duty, not including active duty for training during his service, he is also entitled to medical care benefits. Further, he is not subject to recall to active duty.

ATTENTION ALL NONPAY PERSONNEL

Reservists who perform active duty for training without pay can no longer travel at their own expense, subject to reimbursement. They must travel by government conveyance or TR (transportation request) in connection with training duty orders.

Examples of Skills and Knowledge Acquired

- (1) Organization and functions of the supply department.
- (2) Sources of Coast Guard monies. Types of appropriations and uses of each.
- (3) Sources of information and methods used in determining requirements for stores on shore stations or on cruises of various lengths and under various climatic conditions.
- (4) Sources of supply and methods used in procuring stores.
- (5) Methods of receiving, inspecting, receipting, and accounting for stores, and regulations pertaining to their issue.
- (6) Factors to be considered in stowing materials. Methods of stowing technical stores such as engines, ships' machinery, and repair parts and stores requiring special handling such as fuel, acid, and alcohol.
- (7) Procedures for receiving, storing, and assembling cargo for shipment. Principles of crating and packaging materials. Computation of the cube of cargo to be shipped and comparison of this figure with the capacity of the ship to be loaded.
- (8) Use of duplicating, adding and calculating machines, and of typewriters.

Storekeepers in the lower pay grades generally perform the more routine duties; those in the higher grades perform the more responsible duties and instruct and supervise others.

Qualifications and Preparation

Storekeepers should be average or above average in general learning ability and should be capable of solving practical problems in arithmetic. They must be able to write or print legibly and to record numbers neatly and accurately.

School courses that provide a good background are typewriting, bookkeeping, accounting commercial arithmetic, general business studies, and English. A knowledge of office machines and experience in bookkeeping, stock work or general clerical work are helpful.

It is important to emphasize that only by knowing subordinates is it possible to evaluate their talents and limitations. Only by knowing men can they be properly placed. There must be continuous concern about men, and not concern just when they get into trouble or are about to ship over or go out.

Change of Address Requirement Noted

Whenever you move, or for any reason you have a change in your mailing address, you are required to notify the holder of your official records of your new address. You should report your change of mailing address to:

- a) Your commanding officer when you are affiliated with a unit,
- b) The district commander of the area of your former mailing address if you are not affiliated with a unit.

In the event of your death, your next of kin should so notify your district commander.

THE COAST GUARD RESERVIST will publish from time to time a change-of-address form which will make it easier for you to notify your district commander. This form should be clipped from the publication, filled out completely, and mailed to the district commander.

Remember, if you move or fail for any reason to receive your copy of THE COAST GUARD RESERVIST, notify your commanding officer or district commander as appropriate.

Be sure to print or typewrite all of the information except your signature.

Coast & Geodetic Survey To Design Small Charts

The Coast and Geodetic Survey has started a research and development program for the design and ultimate production of a series of small-sized charts.

While the specially designed nautical charts are being considered to meet the particular needs encountered in small boat navigation, charts of a reduced size are recognized as being useful aboard larger vessels.
